

Homework #1

Due: Monday, January 29

Problem 1 (2 points)

Log into dopey and use the program passwd to change your password. The passwd program does not allow most English words as passwords, so you must show some creativity in your selection.

Special compensation: You do not need to change your password if you had a dopey account before last week.

Problem 2 (5 points)

Create a new directory called literature in your home directory and use emacs (or vi) to write in the directory literature a file poem containing some inspiring verse.

Problem 3 (3 points)

Send Dean Brock and Judy Stasel some computer mail.

Rules of engagement

You don't have to turn in anything. We will look for the files and test the passwords ourselves.

You must do all the typing required to accomplish this assignment. Any other help is permitted.
